Causes of homelessness

At varying levels of analysis, homelessness is a housing problem, an employment problem, a demographic problem, a problem of social disaffiliation, a mental health problem, a substance abuse problem, a family violence problem, a problem created by cutbacks in social welfare spending, a problem resulting from the decay of the traditional nuclear family, and a problem intimately connected to the recent increase in persons living below the poverty level, as well as others.

U.S. Point-in-Time Count -2022

On a single night in 2022, roughly 582,500 people were experiencing homelessness in the United States. Six in ten (60%) were staying in sheltered locations—emergency shelters, safe havens, or transitional housing programs—and four in ten (40%) were in unsheltered locations such as on the street, in abandoned buildings, or in other places not suitable for human habitation.

There continues to be an overrepresentation of people who identify as Black, African American, or African, as well as indigenous people (including Native Americans and Pacific Islanders) among the population experiencing homelessness compared to the U.S. population. People who identify as Black made up just 12 percent of the total U.S. population but comprised 37 percent of all people experiencing homelessness and 50 percent of people experiencing homelessness as members of families with children.

The number of people experiencing either sheltered or unsheltered homelessness increased only slightly between 2020 and 2022, increasing by 1,996 people (or less than 1%)

However, between 2020 and 2022, the number of people counted in unsheltered locations rose by three percent or 7,752 people. The number of people staying in shelter dropped by two percent between 2020 and 2022 (5,756 fewer people).

MA Point in Time Count 2022 (contd)

Total Homeless Persons: 15,507

- Persons in households without children: 5,502 Of these, 1,122 persons unsheltered
- Persons in households with at least one adult and one child: 9,976 Of these, 13 persons unsheltered
- Persons in households with only children: 29
- Total Chronically Homeless Persons: 2,460
- Chronically Homeless persons in households without children: 1,558
- Chronically Homeless persons in households with at least one adult and one child: 902

Observations: Point in Time Count 2022

Total Homeless Persons

From 2020 to 2022, the total number of homeless persons in Massachusetts decreased by 2,468. That includes a decrease of 683 unaccompanied adults, a decrease of 1,766 persons in families, and a decrease of 19 persons in child only households.

Massachusetts is one of the top five states with the largest absolute decreases in people experiencing homelessness between 2020 and 2022.

Individuals

Massachusetts is one of the top five states with the largest decreases in individual homelessness between 2007 and 2022 (2,761, or 33.3%).

Chronic Homelessness

From 2020 to 2022, the total number of chronically homeless persons in Massachusetts increased by 418. Chronic unaccompanied adults increased by 99, and persons in chronically homeless families increased by 319.

Massachusetts is one of the top five states with the largest decreases in chronic homelessness for individuals between 2007 and 2022 1,232, or 44.2%).

Observations: Point in Time Count -2022

Families

A little under half of all people experiencing homelessness as part of a family with children were in four states: New York, California, Massachusetts, and Washington. About two in ten (22%) were in New York (34,805 people), and they were essentially all sheltered. Six percent (9,976 people) were in Massachusetts and, similarly, virtually all were sheltered. (Massachusetts and New York City are among the only places in the country with an entitlement to shelter for families.)

Massachusetts is one of the top five states with the largest decreases in family homelessness from 2020 to 2022 (-1,766, or -15.0%).

However, Massachusetts is one of the top five states with the largest increases in family homelessness between 2007 and 2022 (3,141, or 46.0%).

The Massachusetts Balance of State CoC is one of the top five largely suburban CoCs with the greatest number of persons experiencing family homelessness (2,302)

Veterans

Veteran homelessness decreased in 35 states and the District of Columbia between 2020 and 2022. California, Colorado, and Massachusetts had the largest absolute decreases. The largest percentage decrease was in New Mexico (64%), followed by Arkansas (51%) and Hawaii (37%).
