SANDY NECK NEWSLETTER

From the Staff,

December 2024

With December upon us, it's a great time of year to visit Sandy Neck for a crisp, quiet hike while reflecting on how truly lucky we are to be able to enjoy the natural beauty that surrounds us. Staff would like to remind patrons to be respectful of other visitors and wildlife and keep dogs leashed as required.

Wildlife such as turtles, marine mammals, and sea birds are more susceptible to stranding during the cold winter months. If you see wildlife in need of assistance on the beach or trails please call the SNK Gatehouse at 508-362-8300.

The Snowy Owl, the largest owl in North America by body mass, is equal parts graceful beauty and efficient predator. "Snowies" typically arrive in Massachusetts around November and then head back north to their Arctic breeding ground in April. Keep an eye out, you may just see one on a cold winter morning!

Its that time of year again! The SNK Holiday Sale is back!

As we are in the off season; the gatehouse will be available by appointment only. Call the Sandy Neck Gatehouse for more information and to schedule an appointment.
